

Thrybergh Hall

WEDDING CEREMONIES AND RECEPTIONS

2024

ROTHERHAM
GOLF CLUB

Thrybergh Hall

Welcome

YOUR HAPPY EVER AFTER STARTS AT THRYBERGH HALL

Romantic Thrybergh Hall and its stunning 19th Century splendid Neo- Gothic former ancestral seat provide the perfect surroundings for your wedding day.

Our experienced hospitality team has one objective when organising weddings: to make your day stress free, with superlative service, top quality catering and unsurpassed value.

Our wedding team here know how important it is to make your day extra special, which is why we only host one wedding per day, meaning we can give you our undivided attention and make your day feel that bit more special.

A Fairytale Arrival

The main entrance to the Grade II listed Thrybergh Hall is found down a half mile stretch of private tree lined driveway, that cuts through the picturesque Thrybergh Park which spans over 100 acres.

Your Perfect Day

YOUR DAY, TAILORED TO YOU

No two weddings we do are the same; every bride and groom has their own ideas.

We will work closely with you to create your magical day. We understand that your wedding day is one of the most important days in the lives of you and your partner, meaning that we can also offer bespoke and individually tailored packages for your perfect day. With our newly refurbished rooms and civil ceremonies licence, Thrybergh Hall serves as the perfect backdrop for those treasured wedding photographs. The Grade II listed house, in Neo-Gothic style, is regarded as one of the most beautiful mansions in the region.

Our facilities are luxurious and spacious. We can seat up to 75 guests for your wedding breakfast and up to 120 for the evening reception.

© Laura Charity Photography

© Venus Wedding Photography

History

The name Thrybergh is believed to have its roots in the Anglo-Saxon period, but no substantial explanation can be given as to its exact origin. In the Domesday Book it is referred to as Triberga. It can be concluded from early records that a 'Lord of the Manor' existed at Thrybergh at the time of the Saxon King Edward the Confessor (1004-1066) and one can imagine a small, self-supporting community clustered round the manor house and the church which lay within sixty yards of each other.

After the conquest in 1066, the successful Normans abolished the existing network of landowners and Lords and the Thrybergh estate passed to William de Perci. The Percis held the seat until about 1200 when it passed to the Normanvilles. Adam de Normanville, who is known to have been living at Thrybergh in 1279 died without issues and the estate passed to his sister who had married Ralph de Resesby.

The following 400 years saw an unbroken succession of 16 generations of Resesbys occupying Thrybergh. The estate passed relatively briefly to the Saville-Finch family between 1706 and 1809 but then as was often common, passed to a relative due to a childless marriage. That is how the estate came into the Fullerton family, with whom the estate is most closely associated today.

After almost a hundred years The 'Old Hall' needed extensive repair and was becoming quite unsafe to live in. An estimate showed that it would be more costly to repair than it would be to build a new house. Consequently, in 1811, an architect was commissioned, a new site chosen on the estate, and work began, which was to result in the distinguished Gothic style mansion we know today. The 'Old Hall' was demolished and no visible evidence of its existence now remains.

The Fullerton family took possession of the new Hall in 1813/14. This is what we refer to as Thrybergh Hall today. Regarded as being among the most beautiful mansions in the area, it afforded spacious accommodation: four main reception rooms, twenty-two bedrooms, ancillary rooms, and servants' quarters. Col. John Skipworth Herbert Fullerton was the last of the family to live at Thrybergh, leaving in 1896 to take up residence at Noblethorpe Hall and the estate opened as a Golf Club on April 23rd, 1903.

© Laura Charity Photography

© Rachael Lawson Photography

Grand Architecture

PERFECT FOR MEMORABLE PHOTOGRAPHS

Outside, the grandeur of our former ancestral seat is evident in its towering structure adorned with large arched Gothic windows, creating an enchanting backdrop for your special day.

As you step through the rib-vaulted entrance hall, adorned with intricate plaster cornices, you are greeted by the elegance of our interior architecture.

The cantilevered imperial stairs, embellished with iron balustrades also offers an ideal setting for capturing cherished moments with unforgettable photographs.

© Rachael Lawson Photography

Jack Hulley Suite

A BRIGHT AND VERSATILE SPACE WITH STUNNING GOTHIC ARCH WINDOWS

Named after one of the club's past presidents, the Jack Hulley Suite is the main function room available for hire at Thrybergh Hall. It is a spacious suite and the largest room available at our venue with direct access to the outdoor patio and the main bar.

The capacity for civil ceremonies is 80. This is reduced to 70 when hosting alongside a wedding breakfast to ensure all your guests have enough space to enjoy their meal.

Jack Hulley Suite

Festive Weddings

Fullerton Room

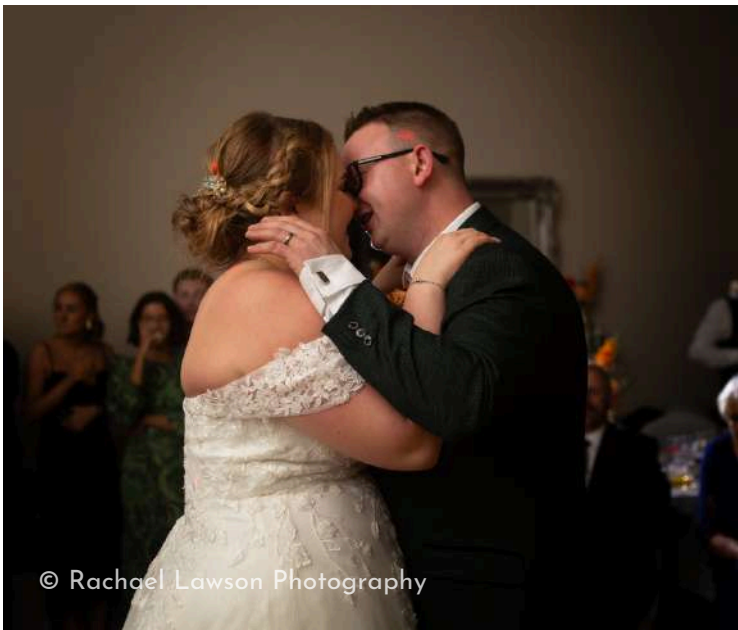

A SMALLER SPACE PERFECT FOR INTIMATE CEREMONIES

Named after the family who built Thrybergh Hall, the Fullerton Room has a capacity is 50 people. With its interconnecting door, it has direct access to the Jack Hulley Suite.

Evening Reception

© Rachael Lawson Photography

© Venus Wedding Photography

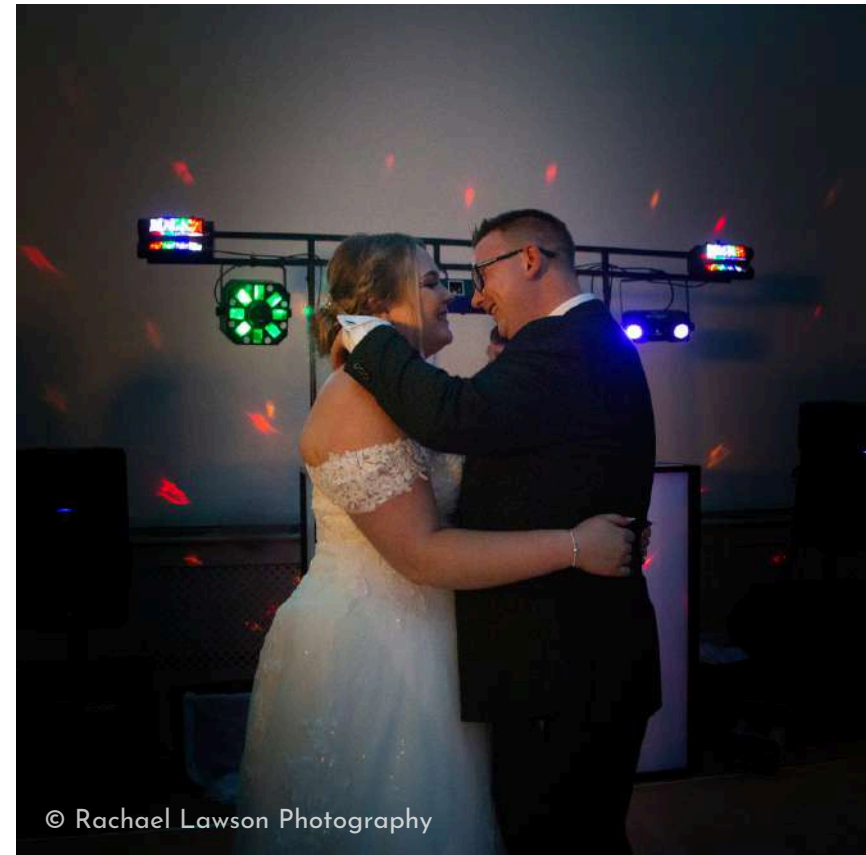

Dance the night away

GET READY TO DANCE THE NIGHT AWAY WITH FRIENDS AND FAMILY IN THE JACK HULLEY SUITE AS IT TAKES ON A NEW MAGICAL FEEL

Our resident DJ, or your own choice of entertainment will be ready to get the party started for your first dance. The 19th Bar is directly connected to the to the Jack Hulley Suite and patio area so guests can hop on and off the dance floor.

© Venus Wedding Photography

© Rachael Lawson Photography

© Venus Wedding Photography

Booking Information

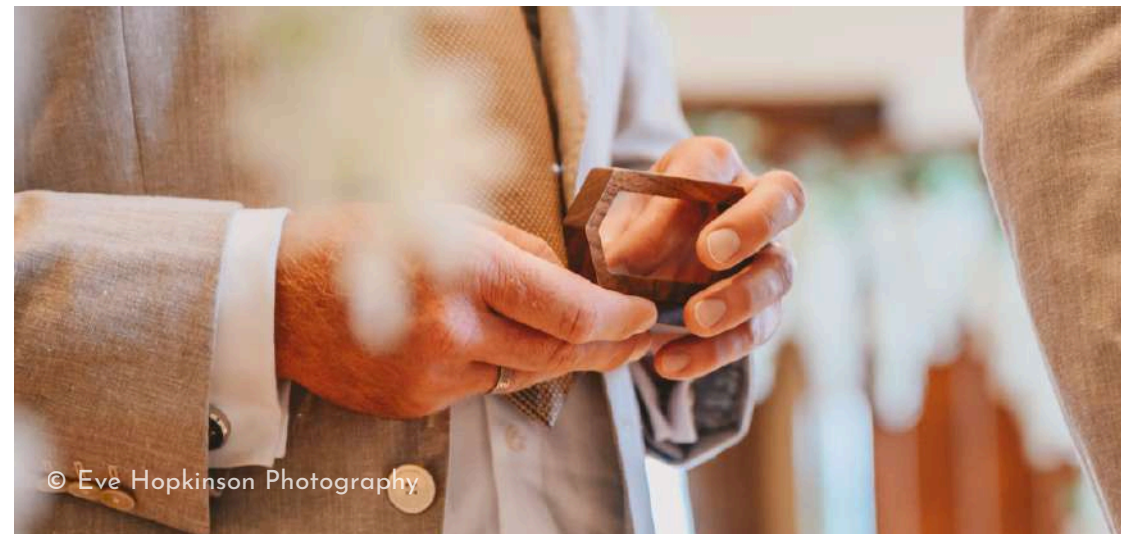

BOOKING WITH US

To check if your date is available at Thrybergh Hall, please contact the team on events@rotherhamgolfclub.com or 01709 850466.

We can provisionally hold your preferred date for 2 weeks with no commitment. After this time, once you have confirmed you are happy, we will send you a booking form and contract which will need to be signed and returned to us. A non-refundable deposit of £1,000 is required to secure your date. £500 of this will be a non-refundable deposit, which we will deduct as payment off of your chosen package. The remaining £500 is a bond which we will hold and shall be returned to you after your special day.

CIVIL CEREMONY BOOKING

We have two rooms available for civil ceremonies and can be added on to any package. Please be aware that we cannot book the registrar for your ceremony on your behalf. Please contact Rotherham Registry Office on 01709 823542.

© Eve Hopkinson Photography

Thrybergh Hall

Thrybergh Park, Doncaster Road, Thrybergh, South Yorkshire, S65 4NU

01709 850466

events@rotherhamgolfclub.com

www.thryberghhall.com

ROTHERHAM
GOLF CLUB

© Eve Hopkinson Photography

Booking Information

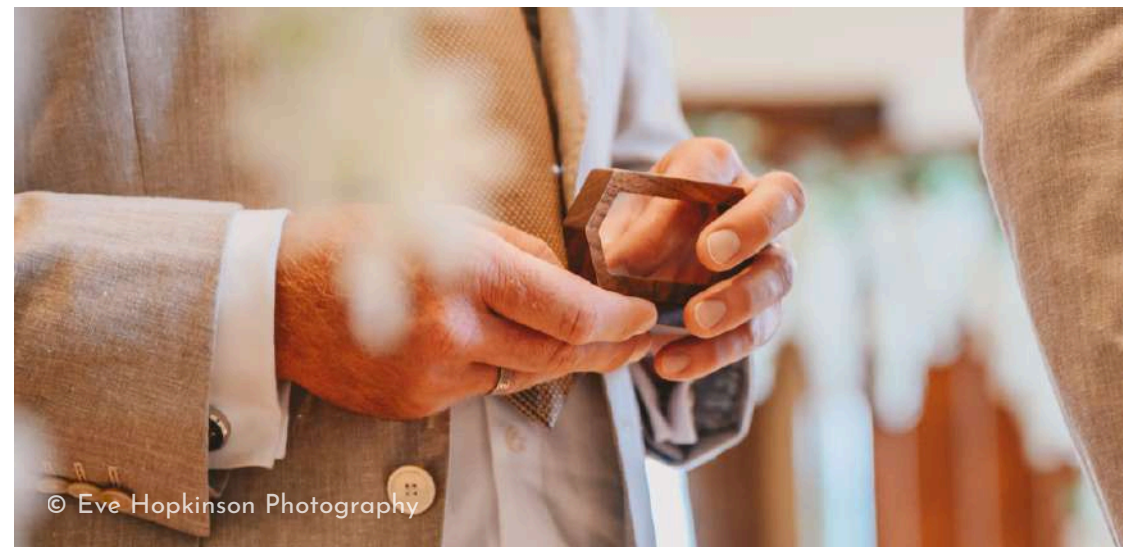

BOOKING WITH US

To check if your date is available at Thrybergh Hall, please contact the team on events@rotherhamgolfclub.com or 01709 850466.

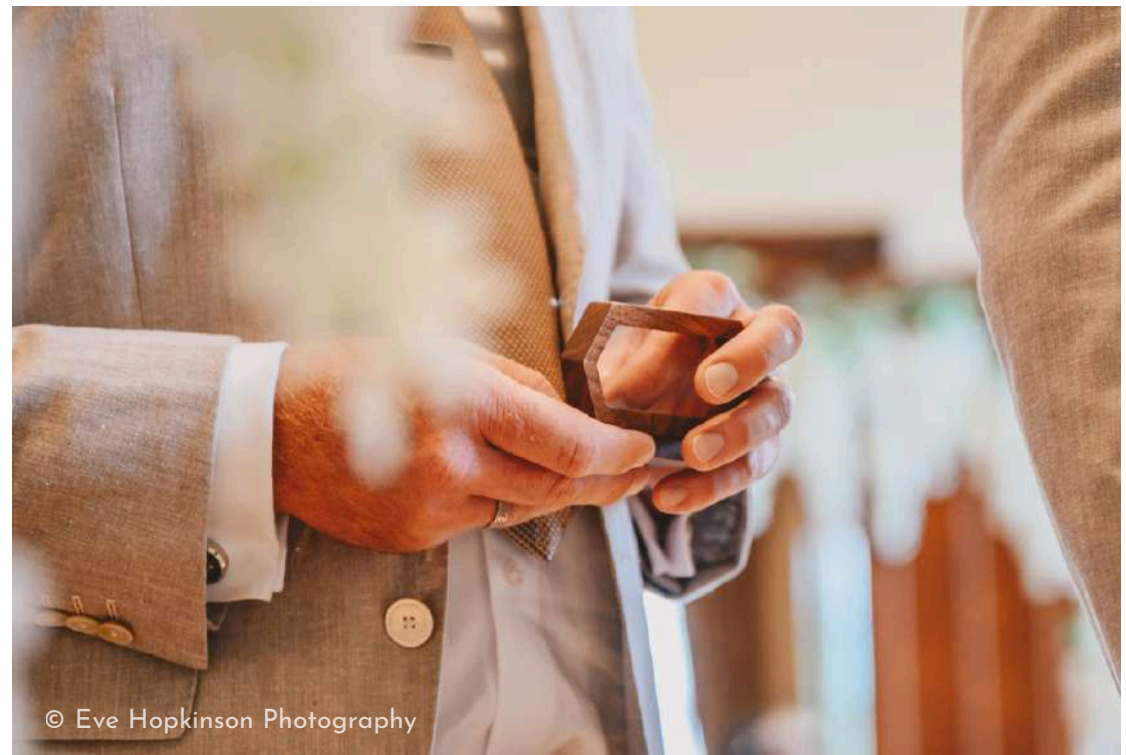

We can provisionally hold your preferred date for 2 weeks with no commitment. After this time, once you have confirmed you are happy, we will send you a booking form and contract which will need to be signed and returned to us. A non-refundable deposit of £1,000 is required to secure your date. £500 of this will be a non-refundable deposit, which we will deduct as payment off of your chosen package. The remaining £500 is a bond which we will hold and shall be returned to you after your special day.

CIVIL CEREMONY BOOKING

We have two rooms available for civil ceremonies and can be added on to any package. Please be aware that we cannot book the registrar for your ceremony on your behalf. Please contact Rotherham Registry Office on 01709 823542.

© Eve Hopkinson Photography

History

The name Thrybergh is believed to have its roots in the Anglo-Saxon period, but no substantial explanation can be given as to its exact origin. In the Domesday Book it is referred to as Triberga. It can be concluded from early records that a 'Lord of the Manor' existed at Thrybergh at the time of the Saxon King Edward the Confessor (1004-1066) and one can imagine a small, self-supporting community clustered round the manor house and the church which lay within sixty yards of each other.

After the conquest in 1066, the successful Normans abolished the existing network of landowners and lords and the Thrybergh estate passed to William de Perci. The Percis held the seat until about 1200 when it passed to the Normanvilles. Adam de Normanville, who is known to have been living at Thrybergh in 1279 died without issues and the estate passed to his sister who had married Ralph de Reresby.

The following 400 years saw an unbroken succession of 16 generations of Reresbys occupying Thrybergh. The estate passed relatively briefly to the Saville-Finch family between 1706 and 1809 but then as was often common, passed to a relative due to a childless marriage. That is how the estate came into the Fullerton family, with whom the estate is most closely associated today.

After almost a hundred years The 'Old Hall' needed extensive repair and was becoming quite unsafe to live in. An estimate showed that it would be more costly to repair than it would be to build a new house. Consequently, in 1811, an architect was commissioned, a new site chosen on the estate, and work began, which was to result in the distinguished Gothic style mansion we know today. The 'Old Hall' was demolished and no visible evidence of its existence now remains.

The Fullerton family took possession of the new Hall in 1813/14. This is what we refer to as Thrybergh Hall today. Regarded as being among the most beautiful mansions in the area, it afforded spacious accommodation: four main reception rooms, twenty-two bedrooms, ancillary rooms, and servants' quarters. Col. John Skipworth Herbert Fullerton was the last of the family to live at Thrybergh, leaving in 1896 to take up residence at Noblethorpe Hall and the estate opened as a Golf Club on April 23rd, 1903.